

Come on people....with all the rest of the crap thats going on in this world.....focus on more needed problems. Another way of getting emergency signals out to the public, and keeping Americans informed, does not need " Big Goverment ". The hell with all your pork projects.....get the spending in line, support or men and women in uniform, support or president, and stop trying to create a problem. Remember what one wise man said once....." If it ain't broken...Don't try and fix it...move on to something else that needs, your attention "
